PROFESSOR HETRICK REVISES WEBSTER ON REAL PROPERTY

Article Contributed by Professor Patrick Hetrick

Having been through the valley of the shadow of the incorporeal hereditaments and lived to tell about it, having awakened in the middle of a Buies Creek light in a cold sweat with visions of the doctrine of instantaneous seisin, and, finally, having developed a curious nervous twitch apparently caused by squinting at fine-print footnotes, I can assure you of two things: the Webster revision is completed and I am depleted.

Thankfully, Dean Davis immediately recognized that two years of diligent ink-slinging on my part had affected me. He suggested that I spend a relaxing three days in Fuquay-Varina where a fountain spewing healing subterranean waters apparently flows.

Some ask whether devoting so much time to the revision project affected my family life. (Many, of course, do not.) For some strange reason, my sons now refer to me as "that man." See if I pay their way through college! My lovely wife, Bernadette, bears no grudges but does not seem to recognize me. She just rocks away in the family room and makes vague references about the day when her husband will return from the war. And believe me, you can only undo so much damage by saying nice things in a preface.

Trying now to get serious for the moment, I would like to report to you concerning the Webster book. It is presently available from the Michie Company and has a sales price of $60.00. Zounds! You will have to review it personally to determine if, like "Preference by L'Oreal," I'm worth it. I would like to thank all of you who assisted me and encouraged me throughout the time that I worked on this project. I have a good feeling when I think of the many former students and friends that I now have throughout North Carolina. Only one of you appears to hold a grudge concerning my grading policies. He or she keeps sending me property law information and signing his or her letters: "A student who received a 65 but who deserved better."

CHARTER ISSUE

This issue represents the charter edition of the Campbell Law Alumni Newsletter. It is the desire of the School of Law to publish an edition of this newsletter each quarter. In order to produce a meaningful publication on a regular basis, those who put the newsletter together will be dependent upon each alumnus and alumna for information and feedback.

Any and all comments and suggestions regarding the content or format of future newsletters are welcomed. With your help, we can provide you with a publication which will be both interesting and informative.

DR. McQUADE BUSY ON CLE CIRCUIT

Dr. J. Stanley McQuade has been traveling all over the country conducting CLE programs on law and medicine. He started in October with Campbell's first CLE program. This six-week program on Medical Practice and Medical Records for Trial Lawyers was held in Raleigh at the North Carolina Bar Center.

Since then, Dr. McQuade has been featured in programs sponsored by the Massachusetts Academy of Trial Attorneys, the Mississippi Trial Lawyers and the North Carolina Bar Association. In the next few months, he will be participating in similar programs for Vanderbilt University School of Law, University of Michigan Law School, Southern Methodist University School of Law, the University of Missouri-Kansas City Law Center, and Mississippi College School of Law.

LAW LIBRARY

The Law Library is still ready to serve you. If you need photocopies of cases, statutes or articles, you can phone or write Assistant Librarian Stan Hammer. We charge 10 cents per page plus a one dollar processing fee. Anytime you're in the area, you're welcome to use the library. Unfortunately, under the terms of our WESTLAW contract, alumni are not permitted to use the terminal. If you would use the terminal if it were available, let K. C. Sorvari know.

ALUMNI DIRECTORY

The first edition of the Campbell Law Alumni Directory will be ready for distribution in just a few weeks. This directory will be in loose-leaf form which will permit updating as necessary. Biographical and professional information will be arranged by class, and cross-reference indices will provide alphabetic and geographic access.

If you have not yet provided the information which was requested of you for inclusion in the directory, please do so right away.

NEW FACULTY FACES

BEVERLY WHEELER MASSEY, a member of Campbell's first two classes, returned to Campbell after serving as Research Assistant to Judge Robert M. Martin of the North Carolina Court of Appeals. In the fall semester, Beverly taught Family Law and assisted in the first-year Legal Research course. This semester, she is teaching Legal Relationships, and is helping with second-year Introduction to Advocacy and third-year trial advocacy program.

SOLOMON W. MARSHALL, class of 1980 and now a partner in the Raleigh law firm of Marshall and Safran, taught Law and Accounting in the fall semester.

MARGARET PERSON CURRIN, a member of the class of 1979, did graduate legal studies at Georgetown University Law Center while serving as Legislative Director and Counsel to U.S. Senator John Tower of Texas. She is now working in the areas of alumni, advancement, continuing legal education, and placement.

DONALD R. BUSTION joined the faculty after serving with the Tennessee Valley Authority. An honors graduate of the Southern Methodist University School of Law and a Phi Beta Kappa graduate of Southern Methodist University, he has practiced law with the Federal Communications Commission and Kirkland and Ellis, in addition to his work with the TVA. At SMU, he was a member of the board of Editors of the Journal of Air Law and Commerce and was elected to the Order of Coif. Professor Bustion directs the School of Law's Agricultural Law activities, and teaches courses in civil procedure and corporations.
ROBERT B. MORGAN is a graduate of East Carolina University, and received his LL.B. from the Wake Forest University School of Law. United States Senator from North Carolina from 1975-1980, he also served five terms as State Senator and was twice elected Attorney General of North Carolina. In 1968, he received the Wyman Award as the outstanding Attorney General in the United States. A retired Navy and Air Force Reserve JAG officer, he has served on the National Commission for Review of Antitrust Law and Procedures and on the Board of Regents of the Smithsonian Institution. He is teaching a seminar on Constitutional Law and modern federalism.

FACULTY NOTES

Professor DONALD R. BUSTION presented a paper on the legal framework for providing relief to political refugees during a consultation held in Washington, D.C., by the National Council of Churches on January 29, 1982. The consultation was designed to strengthen the ability of churches to aid persons fleeing their homes because of political persecution.

Professor PATRICK K. HETRICK will conduct a one-day seminar for the Onslow County Board of Educators on March 12, 1982.

Professor RICHARD BRAUN is on the steering Committee for the ABA Regional Conference on Law Related Education to be held in Raleigh, March 11-13, at the Marriott Hotel. Professor Braun heads the LRE program at Campbell, and previously chaired the Ohio State Bar Committee on LRE.

ALUMNI PLACEMENT SERVICES

The Placement Office of Campbell University School of Law has implemented and "field tested," on a small scale, a placement service for its alumni who are looking for employment or who are interested in making a change. A number of alumni who have requested assistance have been receiving from the Placement Office information on job opportunities. This service is available to all Campbell Law Alumni. For additional information or assistance, contact the Placement Office at the School of Law.

The other side of Alumni Placement is Alumni Recruiting. Alumni whose law firms are in need of summer or permanent associates are encouraged to contact the Placement Office for assistance in locating legal personnel to fill the needs of their firms.
