Tricia looks on as oath administered to new Wake County D. A.

WILLOUGHBY FIRST CAMPBELL DISTRICT ATTORNEY

Charter class graduate C. Colon Willoughby has become Campbell's first District Attorney. Colon was sworn in on May 26 as Acting District Attorney for Wake County. Governor Hunt appointed him to replace J. Randolph Rily, who has taken an indefinite leave of absence for health reasons.

With Judge James H. Pou Bailey presiding, North Carolina Supreme Court Justice Burley Mitchell (a former Wake County District Attorney himself) introduced Colon and administered the oath of office. In his remarks, Justice Mitchell noted that, "Colon Willoughby is a young lawyer, but he has achieved a great deal in the eyes of his professional peers. He's a practical man. He's a very hardworking man. He's one who will pull together the office."

For the brief ceremony, Colon was joined by his wife Tricia, his 2 1/2-year-old daughter Elizabeth, his and Tricia's parents, and a large crowd of friends and well-wishers, including a good number of Campbell alums.
The Campbell Trial Team of Tom Douglass, Larry Mazer, and Sandra Pugh competed in the National Trial Competition Finals held in Houston, Texas in March. Campbell was able to compete in the finals by virtue of its winning the Regional Mock Trial Competition held in February at Chapel Hill.

This was the first time that Campbell University School of Law had won the Regional Competition (in which students from law schools in North Carolina, South Carolina, and Tennessee compete), and the first time that Campbell had participated in the finals.

Twenty-one law schools of the 106 which participated made it to Houston. Campbell's team won its first round against American University but lost very closely-contested rounds to the University of Dayton and Chicago-Kent in this double elimination competition.

This trial competition is the largest and most prestigious trial competition in the country. For their efforts, Tom, Larry, and Sandra were presented the Lewis Powell Award by the President of The American College of Trial Lawyers, Mr. Leon Silverman of New York.

On Saturday, March 26, nearly 200 parents of Campbell law students visited the campus for the annual Parents' Day festivities.

Hosts for this year's program were Mr. & Mrs. Hugh Haynie of Greenville, parents of second-year student Melinda Haynie, and Mr. & Mrs. Andrew Vanore of Raleigh, parents of first-year student Drew Vanore.

Mr. & Mrs. Richard Thigpen, Jr. of Charlotte were on hand as Chairmen of the Law Parents' Annual Fund. The Thigpen's son Richard graduated at the commencement exercises conducted on May 9.

The Honorable J. William Copeland of the North Carolina Supreme Court shared his thoughts about how he felt to have a son at Campbell Law School, and praised the program at Campbell, noting with particular emphasis the mock trial and moot court programs.

In the afternoon, the parents had the opportunity to tour the law school facilities, spend time visiting with faculty members, and learn first-hand about the program in which their sons and daughters are enrolled.

GRADUATION EVENTS

Eighty-eight graduates were awarded the Juris Doctor degree at commencement services at Campbell University on May 9.

Making this year's graduation unique was the awarding of the first J.D. magna cum laude to Larry Harris. The magna distinction is reserved for students graduating with an average of 85 or better on all law school coursework.

The featured speaker for the graduation exercises was United States Senator Jesse Helms. Senator Helms described the world situation into which the graduates of the University and the School of Law will be entering.

On Sunday, May 8 the Reverend James T. Draper, Jr. of Euless, Texas delivered the Commencement Sermon. Mr. Draper, President of the Southern Baptist Convention, was awarded an honorary Doctor of Divinity degree the following day.

At the Law School Hooding Ceremony on Sunday afternoon, Mr. John P. Cox, of the Buffalo (New York) law firm Cox, Barrell, Walsh, Roberts and Grace, admonished the law graduates on many of the practical and ethical problems they should be prepared as lawyers to face. Mr. Cox also spoke in connection with the dedication of Campbell's law library as the Fred O. Dennis Law Library, in recognition of the late Mr. Dennis' very generous gifts in support of the law library's endowment.

LAW OFFICE MANAGEMENT INSTITUTE

Campbell University School of Law will be holding a Summer Institute of Law Office Operation and Management. This summer's institute will focus on "Managing the Small Law Firm."

Professor Richard Rodgers will conduct the Institute. He has traveled and lectured extensively on this subject to lawyers and law students on behalf of the North Carolina Bar Association, and many other state and local bar associations.

The program will be held on the Tuesday and Thursday nights from July 12-28 at the new North Carolina Bar Center at 1312 Annapolis Drive in Raleigh. The topics include timekeeping (July 12), accounting procedures and techniques (July 14), marketing of legal services (July 19), risk management and insurance (July 21), affordable automation (July 26), and a hands-on computer experience (July 28).

The registration fee, which includes the six-part, 15-hour Institute and all course materials is $200. This fee also includes the opportunity to bring one other member of your legal team to each session at no additional charge.

For additional information or for registration forms, contact the School of Law.

COMPUTER PROGRAM PLANNED FOR FALL

Campbell University School of Law is planning an intense one day seminar on the use of microcomputers in the small law office. The unique feature of this October 21 program is that approximately 20 micro-computers will be available for the "hands-on" use of the program participants.

Enrollment for this program will be strictly limited to 60.

Leaders for this program will be Campbell's own Professor Richard Rodgers, and attorneys Kline Strong and Al Moses, all recognized leaders in the field of microcomputer use in the small law firm.

This is the same program which sold out four times at the University of Texas. So we want to make sure that those Campbell lawyers who are interested have first-crack at registration.

Additional information and registration materials will be mailed to all Campbell law alumni in the near future. If you can't wait for the details, or if you want to get your name on the list now to assure yourself of a seat, contact Professor Rodgers or Margaret Currin at the School of Law.

ALUMNI DIRECTORY UPDATES

You will notice that this edition of the Law Alumni Newsletter does not contain the usual page of corrections for Alumni Directory entries. This omission is not unintended.

The information contained in the Alumni Directory is being computerized to make more manageable the task of maintaining the most current information. We are just about ready to go to print, thereby incorporating all of the changes which have been reported to date.

If you have made any changes--marital status, children, job, residence, or whatever--which should be reflected in this new printing, please contact the Law Alumni office right away! If you are not certain whether you have notified us of your particular change, please do so again. We'd rather have it twice than not at all.

1982-83 ALUMNI ANNUAL LAW FUND DRIVE
A BIG SUCCESS

For the first time ever Campbell law alumni have surpassed their goal for the Annual Law Fund. As of this writing, with a few days remaining before the books are closed out on this year's drive (which ends May 31) and with several phonathon pledges still outstanding, alumni contributions received total over $8,000. The goal set last year by the law alumni representative on the Advancement Council was $7,000.

"Much of the success of this year's drive is attributable to the wonderful response of our alumni to the phonathon last March," said Acting Dean Robert A. Jenkins. "Of the $4,265 pledged during the phonathon by 93 alumni, over $3,400 has been honored, representing contributions by 83 alumni," reported Dean Jenkins. "By any standard, this is truly outstanding!"

A final report on the success this year's Alumni Annual Law Fund Drive will be detailed in the next edition of the Newsletter.

ALUMNI RECRUITING EFFORTS
A BIG SUCCESS

Tom Lanier, Director of Admissions, reports that the alumni network which assisted in recruiting law students for the class which will enter this fall was a total success.

"The alumni who visited colleges within their localities or colleges from which they themselves graduated were instrumental in providing information and encouragement to a number of exceptional applicants," Tom reported. "We are very encouraged by the results of this pilot effort, and hope to expand upon it next year. And we are very appreciative to those alumni who so generously and willingly participated."

With such positive results, we expect the program to gear-up again this fall. If you are interested in participating, give Tom a call.
Last fall, a number of graduates from the charter law class went to Washington, D.C. to be admitted to practice before the United States Supreme Court. At that time, only charter graduates could satisfy the three-year admission to practice prerequisite.

This year, members of the Class of 1980 who were licensed to practice in 1980, as well as others from the charter class who did not participate last year, are eligible for this privilege.

Those who went to Washington last year for the ceremony in open court reported that they thought it was well worth their effort. So, if there is enough interest this year, the School of Law again will coordinate the trip.

Monday, November 14, is the day which the Court tentatively has reserved for Campbell's ceremony.

If you are eligible for and interested in admission to practice before the United States Supreme Court, please fill out the survey below and return it to the Law Alumni Office by July 15, 1983.

Professor TOM ANDERSON is teaching summer school at the University of Alabama, where CHARLES GAMBLE is now Dean. Tom is teaching trial advocacy. Dean Gamble taught in the 1980 summer program at Campbell.

Professor RICHARD BRAUN has participated in the drafting of two criminal law bills which were introduced in this session of the North Carolina General Assembly. One bill, introduced by Representative Parks Helms, dealt with leaving the scene of an accident. Professor Braun appeared before a Senate Judiciary-3 Subcommittee chaired by Senator Wilma Woodard regarding a bill to reinstitute the crime of second-degree felony-murder. The resulting bill was introduced by Senator Robert Davis.

DR. JOHN J. BRODERICK participated in a Law Professor Workshop conducted by the American Bar Association's Committee on Law and National Security entitled: "The Tightrope Diplomacy of the Washington, Beijing-Taipei Triangle: National Security Dilemmas" held at the University of Bridgeport School of Law, Bridgeport, Conn. on May 20-21. Dr. and Mrs. Broderick were guests of honor at the University of Notre Dame School of Law Class of 1963 at the University of Notre Dame on June 4-5. Dr. and Mrs. Broderick have been invited to attend the dedication of Notre Dame's London Law Centre, London, England July 24-July 30. The Honorable Warren E. Burger, Chief Justice of the United States Supreme Court will give an address. Dr. Broderick will lecture at the London Law Centre during the Notre Dame Law School Summer Program July 4-August 10, 1983.

CHARLES D. CASE, Adjunct Professor of Environmental Law and a member of the Raleigh law firm of Moore, Van Allen & Allen, delivered a paper at the Carolina Environmental Affairs Conference held at the McKimmon Center in Raleigh on May 11-12 on the topic: "Tax Exemptions for Pollution Control Equipment." Kyle Brown, a 1983 Campbell law graduate, assisted Professor Case with research in preparation of the paper.

Dean F. LEARY DAVIS has finished his coursework at Columbia University School of Law. This summer Dean Davis will be teaching jurisprudence at Baylor University School of Law in Waco, Texas. He will return to Campbell full time in July.

Professor PATRICK K. HETRICK has had his second book in a year published. Prentice-Hall, Inc. has just published the second edition of North Carolina Real Estate For Brokers and Salesman. Written under the auspices of the North Carolina Real Estate Licensing Board, the second edition is a complete revision and update of an earlier "classic" written by the late Professor James A. Webster, Jr. of Wake Forest University Law School. Well over 500 pages in length, the book is regarded as a "must" for all real estate licensees and every person studying for the North Carolina real estate licensing examination. Professor Hetrick is also the new editor-in-chief of the 14-volume Thompson on Real Property Treatise, published by the Michie Company. In addition, Pat was recently elected to succeed Tom Lanier as president of the Buies Creek PTA. (Pat was not at the meeting to defend himself).

Acting Dean ROBERT A. JENKINS made a presentation on Evidence in Bankruptcy Proceedings at the Eastern District Bankruptcy Institute held June 9-11 at Wrightsville Beach.

DR. I. BEVERLY LAKE married Mrs. Kathleen Mackie of Wake Forest in February. Mrs. Mackie was the widow of the late Dr. George Mackie.

Professor WILLIAM E. MARTIN and Jennifer Brock were married on March 6. Bill is leaving the law faculty and will be assuming the position of Assistant U.S. Attorney for the Eastern District of North Carolina on June 1.

Professor RICHARD T. RODGERS has been appointed to the Editorial Board of Legal Economics, a bi-monthly journal published by the Section of Legal Economics of the American Bar Association. Professor Rodgers is a frequent lecturer on various aspects of law office operation and economics and has written a number of nationally published articles on the subject. He is also a monthly columnist for the National Law Journal. The last issue of Legal Economics (the magazine of the ABA Economics of Law Practice Session) contained two articles which he submitted. Within the last two months, Professor Rodgers has been a featured speaker at law office management seminars in Dallas, Fort Worth, and El Paso, Texas; Boston; Charleston, West Virginia; and Chicago. In his spare time, he has been hired as a consultant for the Tandy Corporation (manufacturers of Radio Shack computer equipment) to help them develop products for the legal market.

HOLLOWELL PROMOTED

Adjunct Professor EDWARD E. HOLLOWELL of Raleigh has been promoted to Colonel in the United States Army Reserves. Hollowell is assigned to the U.S. Army Health Services Command in Fort Sam Houston, Texas. The Health Services Command operates hospitals, medical and dental facilities to provide health care for members of the Army, dependents, and retirees. Hollowell previously served as Executive Officer of the 3274th U.S. Army Reserve Hospital in Durham before being assigned to Health Services Command.

Colonel Hollowell is a principal in the law firm of Hollowell & Silverstein, P.A., in Raleigh, and is a lecturer in health law. He is on the faculty of East Carolina University School of Medicine, the University of North Carolina School of Public Health and Campbell University School of Law.

DR. BRODERICK RECEIVES IREDELL AWARD

The James Iredell Chapter of Phi Alpha Delta Law Fraternity and Campbell University School of Law hosted its fourth annual Iredell Banquet and Award Dinner on October 28, 1982, at the Velvet Cloak in Raleigh.

The Iredell Award is given by the Chapter to the individual voted to have contributed the most to the entire legal community of North Carolina. The event was attended by the Justices of the North Carolina Supreme Court and those of the North Carolina Court of Appeals. Also in attendance were Jim and Linda Gill (District Justice of P.A.D., District XXIII), the faculty of Campbell School of Law, the recipient of this year's award, Dr. John J. Broderick, his wife Louise and their daughter, Mary Louise Kennedy; along with the members and guests of the Iredell Chapter. The guest speaker for the evening was the Honorable Rufus Edmisten, Attorney General of North Carolina.

This year's honoree, Dr. Broderick, embodies the motto of P.A.D. with his daily service to the student, the school, and the profession. Over 120 persons joined with Dr. Broderick as he received an engraved plaque and a book of personal letters from well-wishers which included: Governor James Hunt; President Norman Wiggins of Campbell University; Father Theodore Hesburgh of Notre Dame; and International Justice Charles Taylor.

Dean & Mrs. Jenkins join law alums for dinner at Myrtle Beach
MESSAGE FROM THE PRESIDENT

Everyone who attended the Law Alumni Weekend at Myrtle Beach May 13-15 thoroughly enjoyed re-establishing old friendships and discovering new ones. On behalf of the Law Alumni Association, I would like to thank all of those who were instrumental in making the weekend a success. A special thanks goes to Sam Clawson and Garrett Ludlum for their lead in organizing and planning the event. I sincerely hope that even more of our alumni will attend this function and similar ones in the years to come.

I am very pleased to announce that the Law Alumni have met--and actually exceeded--the Annual Fund Goal of $7,000 we set last fall. As of today (May 30) we have surpassed our goal by a little over $1,000! Our continued enthusiastic support of the School of Law in this manner will assure the maintenance of Campbell's high standards in the field of legal education.

As evidence of the high regard in which Campbell law graduates are held in our legal community, I am sure you join with me in extending congratulations to Colon Willoughby for his recent appointment as Wake County District Attorney.

The Law Alumni Association continues to stand ready to assist all alumni in every way possible.

John M. Tyson

ALUMNI WEEKEND

Over fifty law alumni, faculty, spouses, and kids gathered at Myrtle Beach over May 13-15 for a weekend of fun, sun, golf, tennis, fellowship, and CLE--not necessarily in that order. From Maryland, Florida, North and South Carolina they came, bringing fond recollections and carrying away new memories and renewed friendships. Much appreciation goes to Sam Clawson ('80) and Garrett Ludlum ('79) for their hard work and wonderful management in making all the arrangements.

For those of you who weren't able to make it this year, and for those who did and want to do it again, stay tuned for information regarding the date, time, and place for next year's event.

"Look out, Wimbledon!" say Campbell tennis stars.

Planners of Alumni Weekend: George, Sam, & Garrett.
A NEW VICE - PRESIDENT

BETTY MANN (1982) has been named Vice President for Corporate Development and General Counsel of the Naegele Outdoor Advertising Company. The painted bulletin (right) announcing Betty's appointment is presently on location in Goldsboro and Fayetteville, and is soon to appear in Kinston and Greenville.

Betty left her position with the Raleigh law firm Boyce, Mitchell, Burns and Smith on March 1 to assume her new position.

"This is one of those once-in-a-lifetime, dream positions which allows me a myriad of opportunities to use my legal training in conjunction with public relations and lobbying talent," reports Betty.

She spends an average of 40% of her time on strictly legal matters: land use law, real estate transactions, and litigation. The remaining 60% is divided between liaison work with local community leaders, including both elected officials and the business community, and public service projects.

Naegele donates 10% of its advertising space to non-profit organizations to promote their community projects, and all such donations are handled through the Corporate Development division.

The outdoor advertising industry is one highly regulated by federal, state, and municipal laws, and an important part of Betty's position is the fostering of mutual understanding between her company and the governing entities.

"I can honestly say that I do not know of another position which would have provided me the opportunities I am experiencing to expand beyond 'normal' legal work," says Betty with obvious pride in and respect for her new company. "As you can see, I am enthralled with my new career path and look forward to a rewarding future in my 'quasi' practice of law with Naegele."

A REVIEW

Indeed, it was "101 pounds of fun" as the Raleigh Little Theater climaxed its season with a fantastic production of Rogers and Hammerstein's "South Pacific."

Why, do you ask, is this newsworthy for the Campbell Law Alumni Newsletter? For the simple reason that the performance was led by Ron Campbell ('80) in the supporting role of Luther Billis, naval enlisted con-artist. Ron led the cast in belting out "There Is Nothing Like a Dame." And in the "Honey Bun," number, Ron--dressed as Honey Bun with yellow mop wig, grass skirt, and coconut halter--stole the show. His belly-dance rocked the ship (painted on his belly) like a typhoon.

Ron is former Executive Director of the Raleigh Little Theater, and was cast in the movie "Hot Heir."

RICHARD THIGPEN will enroll in Georgetown University Law Center's graduate tax program this fall.
SUMMER SCHOOL UNDERWAY

The 1983 Summer School program got underway May 23 with the largest enrollment ever. Sixty-three PBAP (Performance-Based-Admission-Program) students and sixty-six regular summer school students began the seven-week course of study.

This summer the PBAP students are taking Personal Property, taught by Professor Beverly Massey ('80), and Constitutional Law, taught by Professor Donald R. Bustin. Students achieving a grade of 75 in each course will be admitted to the first-year class in the fall as regular students. Students not achieving that grade level will be placed on the waiting list.

Courses offered in the regular summer school program include Commercial Law (Professor Lewis); Income Taxation (Professor Loftis); Contract Planning (Professor Lord); Legal Economics (Professor Rodgers); and Law Office Internships (Professor Loftis).
