Campbell University School of Law

this 14th day of May, 1994

Phil J. Shuey
Chair
As a 1990 graduate of Campbell's excellent law school, I am proud to return and join a team of professionals dedicated to providing students with a legal education of the highest caliber. Since most of you are well aware of the traditional challenges faced by a law student I will not belabor the obvious. However, there are facets of Campbell's program which are unique.

Our classes are relatively small by choice. While the number of faculty members has increased and the law school facility doubled in size in 1993, our three classes remain at approximately 100 students each with these students being selected from approximately 12 applicants for each available seat. The small class size allows us to be selective in admission and effective in education.

Beyond submitting proof of prior academic achievement, each student is interviewed by a faculty member prior to admission. The interview enables the faculty to probe the motivation and aspiration of the applicant, and better determine whether the applicant can meet the demands of, and contribute to, the legal profession.

Upon admission, our students are educated in the philosophical and theoretical aspects of law, but they are also trained to practice law and to manage the business of the practice of law. They are taught to think like lawyers and act like professionals.

With these thoughts we present the classes of 1996 and 1997. Simply stated, we are proud of these men and women. We believe you will be proud of them as well.

I invite you to visit our campus, or call me to discuss your permanent or summer placement needs. Also, do not hesitate to call other members of the law school administration or faculty regarding placement.

Thank you.
